WELCOME HOME!

HERE'S WHAT'S NEW THIS YEAR:

- ➤ As you'll see on the map, there have been changes to our city grid. This means that our city's open space is now at one with itself (and doesn't feel like two separate spaces). It's even got a new name: it's the Binneding.
- ➤ There's a new camping area in town: Walk-In Camping, which is beyond 4ish. Check out the map for more on that.
- ► RECREATIONAL DRONES ARE NOT PERMITTED.
  Sorry, kids: the Civil Aviation Authority's put an end to any of them operating near an active airstrip (which we have, here on site)
- ► Sound systems in Open Camping (in cars or not) – mellow levels in the daytime is cool, but sound systems at night is

- not please don't be a tool and bang your favourite tunes next to neighbours: they, or the Rangers, will just ask you to turn it off
- ► If your camp's too cramped, create some space by moving vehicles to the parking lot alongside Entrance Rd
- ► Suppliers (including tent companies) now have their own arrival depot. It's next to Camp Yeah But No But near the gate. If you're expecting a delivery, that's where you need to meet them.
- ▶ No camping in any watercourses at all, please folks we expect a wet year. If you camp in a watercourse, not only are you a muppet for disturbing a sensitive ecosystem, but your camp will be washed - away when the flash flood comes. Not fun.

- ► Ceres Municipality would like to remind you that they have recycling facilities at your disposal. Please read the notices on Exodus and make use of the info. PLEASE MAKE SURE YOUR LOAD IS SECURED. Trash on the R355? Hayibo, not lekker.
- Radio Free Tankwa is back, so tune in & turn on: 99.9FM is where you'll find it
- ► Exodus will again be subject to traffic pulsing. Chill, listen in to Radio Free Tankwa and get updates on road conditions.
- ► Sober Living is a new camp that anyone in recovery or sobriety is welcome to visit and hang out at. See the Sanctuary section under Event Services for more.

We have a clay woodburning oven to make all of our brews. Our Coffee Maister brews a Burn favourite, pure arabica coffee beans in Ethiopian coffee pots. Our Chai Maister, a second generation Chai Wala, brews the finest Chai on the Playa by far. Expect to snack on fruit, biscuits and popcorn.

Our resident Music Maister encourages the jam and has a nose to sniff out a crew of impromptu merry music makers. From around 14-00 the music Maister and his band of jammers get going all afternoon.

This year, the crew got even more diversified. Members from distant corners of this planet came together called by one main goal: to see those bones turn back into dust! The Great Spirit, that's all around and nowhere to be found, shall tell vou the story of the mighty 11 principles... while shadows. magical creatures, superorganisms, villain, queen and harlequin shall stage the HAUPTBAHNHOF musically-theatrical PLAY.

SANDILE RADEBE

A wooden geometric structure that aims to encourage spatial awareness through providing shade and protection from the wind in Tankwa town The design of the totem is informed by 'isibheae sohlamvu' iconography, 'Isibhege sohlamvu' references symbolism found in Nguni material culture like beadworks, beer vessels, mural art and other elements to form a syllabic script. Using the shapes found in the script, I aim to build a geometric structure that represents a totem. The structure also has cylindrical components that represents 'ingungu' part of the script that are intended to create sound against the wind of the desert blowing into them. The totem represents ancestry and heritage in general but uses my ancestry to signify this. As such heritage and ancestry is personal and direct which makes it important in the formation and conception of self. I aim to invoke introspection about this to the viewer through creating an experiential sense of the script by walking in and out or sitting inside the totem. This journey is aimed to extend to the physical space and thus serves to stimulate spatial awareness and pose questions about the function of space.

Gratitude is an emotion expressing appreciation for what one hasas opposed to, for example, a consumerdriven emphasis on what one wants. Studies show that we can deliberately cultivate gratitude, and can increase our well-being and happiness by doing so. In addition. gratefulness — and especially expression of it to others - is associated with increased energy, optimism, and empathy. Remember a marker to leave a message when you visit the temple.

DANCE OF A THOUSAND FLAMES

FLOW ARTS

The Dance of a Thousand Flames is a public gathering of fire dancers from all over the world. It is not a completely rehearsed performance, but rather an amassed fire iam of like-minded pyromantics who wish to share our love of fire and flow. We carry a flame from the Flow Arts Commune's Sacred Flame towards the San Clan, spread and share and dance with the fire around the sculpture, and then hand it over to set the San Clan alight. We aim to gather at least 50 different fire dancers at once to create at least 100 balls of fire moving and flowing around the sculpture.

Last year the Haupbahnhof Crew raised on dust a twostorev train station. While the beards and the armpit jungles grew wildly, wood was meeting wood, hammers were nailing it into a skeleton, until the baby was born and cried its first 'GONG!'. This year, the crew got even more diversified. Members from distant corners of this planet came together called by one main goal: to see those bones turn back into dust! But...right before it

That's what the prehistoric cavepeoples of the orient called the mystical waterfall where they came together at the source to dream themselves into the eternal hunting grounds to the hypnotic sounds of the skin drum and the rattle of the shaman every seventh night.

That's not the truth. Niju simply quickens the imagination. While ordinary club sets often feel like a bumpy obstacle course through your ear canal, Niju will take you to a musical high-wire garden.

You float and prance through the thicket towards the mystical waterfall of versatile creativity. A mix of impulsive deep-house, tech-house variations and downtempo influences may describe his sound.

His performances always match to time, place and audience. Nijus productions are the expression of his love in music and his love in details. His dedication for the art itself without having any expectations makes Niju an extraordinary artist.

NYATITI Solo By makadem

MAKADEM

Makadem is a specialist in Benga music, arguably the most distinctive sound to have come out of Kenya's 70 years of creating urban music. His music is full of tradition and storytelling.

Mixing African traditional instruments, like Nyatiti, Orutu, Ohangla, Kalimba with electric bass and guitar and keys, or using the Calabash and Bunde along with the modern drum set, creates surprises in the sound and show.

The Nyatiti, an eight stringed traditional lyre from the Luo community of Kenya, the birthplace of Barack Obama, is uniquely Kenyan (East African). Nyatiti is both an instrument and a musical genre.

Together with Orutu, a traditional Luo violin the two genres gave birth to the Benga music in the 1950s after the young Luo musicians incorporated those sounds into their newly acquired instrument, the guitar.

Every burn has a Fire Perimeter - and it's there to keep us all safe. To make sure every burn runs smoothly, please pay attention to these safety tips:

- ► If you arrive by bike. lock it up & leave it at least 50m away. When wind changes direction or embers come down and people move, they become a major hazard for people trying to move away
- Please DO NOT USE LA-SER POINTERS - THEY CAUSE PERMANENT BLINDNESS if they're pointed into a person's
- ▶ When you arrive, settle in by sitting down - standing up forces others to try and get ahead of you, which causes encroachment of the safety line
- If you're part of a Mutant Véhicle crew, please DO NOT park too close to the perimeter line, and if Mutant Patrol request that you move further back, please assist them by doing so to make space and keep people safe.
- ► If Perimeter Marshalls, Rangers or Safety crew ask you to move away, it's for a very good reason: please listen to them
